

Guns, Obesity, and Opioids: A Population Health Science Approach to Contemporary Concerns

Date

Tuesday, May 29, 2018 -1:00pm to5:00pm

Conference

Location

TBA

Map ^[1]

UCSF Parnassus

HSW-300

The first UCSF colloquium on population health and health equity features Sandro Galea, MD, MPH, DrPH, dean of the Boston University School of Public Health. His scholarship is at the intersection of social and psychiatric epidemiology with a focus on the behavioral health consequences of trauma, including firearms.

Dr. Galea's keynote will launch a discussion of how a leading academic medical center like UCSF can harness scholarship, education and clinical care to tackle society's thorniest problems that prevent people from achieving levels of health and wellbeing that we know are possible.

To RSVP, visit <https://bit.ly/2HnhnbU> ^[2] by May 25.

Contact Us

About Us

UCSF Main Site

© 2018 The Regents of the University of California

Source URL: <https://epibiostat.ucsf.edu/events/guns-obesity-and-opioids-population-health-science-approach-contemporary-concerns>

Links

[1] <https://goo.gl/maps/Ephk6>

[2] <https://bit.ly/2HnhnbU>