Training in Clinical Research (TICR) Program

Training in Clinical Research (TICR) Program [1]: Individual courses, certificate programs, and graduate degree programs spanning the spectrum of human subjects-based clinical, epidemiologic, and translational research. Curriculum includes instruction in observational and experimental study design, biostatistical analysis, implementation science, data management, and scientific presentation and dissemination. Learn more about:

- Master's Degree in Clinical Research [3]

Contact Us
About Us
UCSF Main Site

© 2018 The Regents of the University of California

Source URL: https://epibiostat.ucsf.edu/training-clinical-research-ticr-program

Links: